ESSAY QUESTION:

Please respond to the following using between 500 and 1,000 words:

There are significant differences between an investor-owned electric utility and a rural electric cooperative utility. Your friend has asked you to explain the differences: What makes a rural electric cooperative different? What does it mean to be a cooperative member? Are there other types of cooperatives? Please write your essay in response to your friend's questions. Please conclude by describing to your friend how a cooperative currently plays a role in your life, if any, and how a cooperative may play a role in your future career and/or personal life.
